

Rural GCE free online course to encourage people to become active citizens in their local communities

The Erasmus+ project Training Material for Global Citizenship Education (GCE) in Rural Areas is near its end. The project began back in 2020 with the ambition to motivate people to become active citizens of their communities and to build on the existing teaching practices and improve the related tools and approaches.

By combining know-how and expertise of organizations from United Kingdom, Greece, Bulgaria, Cyprus, Spain and the Netherlands, the consortium elaborated learning materials for educators that are implementing activities in the field of Global Citizen Education in rural areas. The materials are developed in a manner that contribute towards an easier approach and reach of the process of citizens participation, specifically in rural areas within Europe. Even more, the materials are easy to access and free to use, so everyone who is interested in the topic of GCE can join the course.

This learning program is compiled by 5 modules:

- Inequality and poverty,
- Cultural diversity,
- Identities, Stereotypes and dismantling prejudice,
- Media literacy and internet safety,
- Sustainability and consumption to Community Actions.

Each module consists of a theoretical part and practical exercises, where you can put all theory into practice. is available in English, Spanish, Bulgarian and Greek language.
